5. Life Standards:

As a Net Group Leader at First Assembly of God, you must live a life with standards that are taught in the Word of God. The issue is not the wrongness of a thing, but doing something we personally feel is alright that could cause another believer to stumble. Some of the things below are immoral and condemned in Scripture, while others may not be greater than some other sin, but are things that cause stumbling. Paul gave us the "law of love" regarding questionable things; 1 Corinthians 8:11-13.

As Net Group leaders, we are to be punctual and inflexible as to the rules set forth by First Assembly of God. It is impressed upon every leader the urgency of Salvation, the Holy Spirit, the importance of study, and the necessity of self-discipline.

1. You are NOT to live with a person as if you are married to them when you are not, even if no "sin" is being committed (1 Thess. 5:22).
2. You are to have gained victory over smoking, drinking, and narcotics of any type, immoral sexual habits, and spouse or child abuse.
3. Your dress code should be such that it is not a distraction from your ministering the Word; such as ladies wearing low cut blouses or attire that would give too much exposure. You should be well groomed at all times. If you are going to have a beard or mustache, it should be well trimmed at all times.

4. Remember, to be a Net Leader is to be involved in ministry in the Body of Christ. Therefore, you should govern your life accordingly, with a life of holiness. A Net Leader here at First Assembly of God is a privilege not a right, subject to the approval of those in charge.
5. You should always strive for excellence; which means you are going to minister as a professional involving commitment, time, spiritual dedication, or sometimes personal inconvenience.
6. If it is noticed that you exhibit unstable emotional traits according to the judgment of the leaders in charge while ministering as a Net Group Leader, we have the right to suspend or terminate your Net Leader status.
7. Net Leaders are subject to suspension or dismissal, if conduct is habitually out of line with God's Word.
